Work in Progress Pendant

Design by: Matteo Ugolini

Any mechanic who has ever hooked a work light with its bulb-guard onto the chassis of an automobile knows the importance of the helpmate's indispensable glow. Matteo Ugolini has turned the workhorse into a knockout by taking its shape and beautifying its scooped shell and handle with sculptural flowers. Naming it the Work in Progress wall light, let's just say the sexy demeanor with which he infused this design is as complete as any work of art could ever be!
