The Curve Short table lamp by Zero Lighting was created by the visionaries at Front Design to illuminate the newly-reopened National museum's library in Stockholm. It is their version of the classic green clerk's lamp that were so popular during the industrial age, but with a mushroom-like playfulness to its character. The shade is available in either glass or metal, in three sizes — the number following the name indicative of the diameter of the shade in millimeters. Color options include green, white, ivory and blue. We also offer the Curve as floor lamps and pendants.
